Three simple product categories

Finding your perfect AI PC has never been easier.

While our iconic Alienware brand will continue to serve PC gamers, the rest of our product lines across PCs, monitors and accessories will consolidate into three simplified product categories. From sleek laptops to powerful workstations and versatile desktops, all powered by Intel® Core™ Ultra processors, Dell's new AI PC and accessories lineup lets you collaborate, create and drive productivity no matter the location.

Dell
Formerly XPS, Inspiron and Vostro

AI-powered laptops and desktops for every day productivity and entertainment.

Dell Pro
Formerly Latitude & OptiPlex

Professional-grade AI laptops and desktops that deliver exceptional performance, innovative durability, class-leading security and simplified management.

Dell Pro Max
Formerly Precision

Professional-grade AI laptops and desktops that unlock maximum performance through cutting-edge CPUs, pro-level GPUs and high-speed storage and advanced memory.

Three simple tiers

Within each product category, we offer three straightforward tiers for an easy, intuitive experience when selecting the right products for your needs.

Dell
Designed for play, school and work

Dell Pro
Designed for professional-grade productivity

Dell Pro Max

Consistent Dell desk solutions

Except for our UltraSharp monitors, Dell's brand unification extends beyond PCs to the entire desk ecosystem, so it's even easier for customers to find the right technology solutions they need today and, in the future. The UltraSharp brand will remain because it stands for the best color performance and color accuracy across our home and professional lines.

Dell / Dell Pro
